Re-Energizing Organizations! Finding Your Second Wind In A Warp Speed World

HEALTHCARE

Jack brings a reframed way of thinking on how to reconnect with patients and associates with a renewed focus on what's important in today's healthcare environment. He delivers his message to hospital administrators, board members, senior management teams and hospital and healthcare associations, hospice and volunteers, healthcare facility managers, human resource groups, and medical practices on the issues facing their industry today. He addresses the loss of human contact resulting from the pressures brought on by the forced efficiencies from healthcare reforms resulting in the consolidation of manpower, work space and processes.
