Re-Energizing Organizations!

Finding Your Second Wind In A Warp Speed World

INTERGENERATIONAL

For the first time in history we have the power of four generations competing in the workplace and their philosophies and techniques for getting things done are colliding. Each generation formed its philosophy in vastly different worlds, which were impacted by different forms of technology. The transient nature of our society has resulted in a lack of understanding, as well as a lack of respect for each other, creating tension in the workplace.

Keynote:

Bringing New Energy To The Intergenerational Challenge
Integrating The Unique Strengths of Each Generation

Has the complexity of today's intergenerational work-force become a drag on your organization's efficiency? The tension between the generations is often considered invisible, but is in fact very obvious, as well as energy draining. Jack will show you how the power of each generation's thinking was formed and how to integrate those powers.

Seminar:

Overcoming the Generational Divide
Creating Common Ground Through Respect

Each generation brings to the table a peculiar combination of strengths and weaknesses. The power of the generations lies in the sharing of those strengths. Balancing the tension created by competing strengths presents a formidable challenge. In this seminar, Jack will show how mentoring creates respect and establishes common ground for taking business to the next level.

"You wowed us with your stories, challenges, life lessons and heartfelt moments of truth woven into your stories. Our staff can't stop talking about you!"
